DAVID LLOYD GEORGE SPEAKS IN PARIS

Has Just Returned from Italian War Zone

British Prime Minister Alludes to Centralized Direction of Allied War Efforts and Gives Reasons Why Such a Step was Not Taken Earlier.

Paris, Nov. 12.—At a luncheon today in honor of David Lloyd George, the British prime minister, who has just returned from the Italian war zone, alluding to a centralized direction of the allied efforts, said:

"Unfortunately we did not have time to consult the United States or Russia before creating this council. But in order to assure the complete success of this great experiment which I believe is essential to the victory of our cause, it will be necessary that all our great allies be represented in the deliberations. I am persuaded we shall obtain the consent of these two great countries and their co-operation in the work of inter-allied council."

Mr. Lloyd George developed at considerable length the reasons for not taking the step earlier. He referred to "timidities and susceptibilities" when it came to treating questions on any front not commanded by generals taking part in the inter-allied countries. The allies had committed a great fault in not adequately assisting Serbia in holding her lines, with the result that the central empires broke the blockade and procured men and supplies from the east without which Germany doubtless would have been unable to maintain the forces of her armies.

"It is true that we sent troops to Saloniki to succor Serbia," he said, "but as always they were sent too late. Half the men who fell in the vain effort to pierce the western front in September that year would have saved Serbia, saved the Balkans and completed the blockade of Germany."

After reviewing the Italian campaign the premier said:

"As far as I am concerned I had arrived at the conclusion that if nothing was changed I could no longer accept the responsibility for the action of a war condemned to disaster from lack of unity. Italy's misfortune may still save the alliance because without it I do not think that even today we would have created a veritable superior council.

"National and professional traditions, questions of prestige and susceptibilities all conspired to render our best decisions vain. No one in particular bore the blame. The guilt was in the natural difficulty of obtaining of so many nations of so many independent organizations that they should amalgamate all their individual particularities to act together as if they were but one people."

Mr. Lloyd George later said:

"The war has been prolonged by particularism. It will be shortened by soliditary. If the effort to organize our united action becomes a reality I have no doubt as to the issue of the war. The weight of men and material and of moral factors in every sense of the word is on our side.

"I say it's no matter what may happen to Russia or in Russia. Revolutionary Russia can never be anything but a menace to Hohenzollernism. But even if we are obliged to despair of Russia, my faith in the final triumph of the cause of the allies remains unshakable."

QUEEN LILIUOKALANI OF HAWAII IS DEAD

HONOLULU, Nov. 12.—The island territory is in mourning today over the death of former Queen Liliuokalani, last of the nativce monarchs. The body will lie in state in the Kawaiahao Church until its removal next Sunday to the throne room of the palace where the funeral will take place. For the last time in the history of Hawaii the traditional funeral observances are to be revived.

Queen Liliuokalani lived thru every phase of her country's history. At the time of her birth in 1838 the Sandwich Islands had few white residents except missionaries and traders at ports of call. She lived to see her royal flag hauled rown by the Dole government in 1903 after a short resurrection and later to see the islands republic pass under the American flag. In her last months she showed herself a loyal American by her subscriptions to the Red Cross and purchase of liberty bonds.

SOLDIERS TO HAVE SUNDAY SHOWS

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The offer of a local theater manager to stage a complete performance of a popular show at Fort Sheridan on Sunday afternoon for the diversion of the student officers drew a protest from a local woman's club. Colonel James A. Ryan, commandant, met this protest with a terse order sanctioning the performance. He said:

"You won't protest against the boys in the trenches fighting for your homes on Sunday, will you? I thought not. Very well, then, we'll let them laugh a bit on this day too."

SAMMIES' EXPERIENCE WITH GAS SHELLS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY in France, Nov. 12.—By the Associated Press—American infantrymen in the trenches and artillerists in the gun pits have had their first real experience with gas shells. The Germans have let loose many during the last two days making the use of gas masks necessary. Shrapnel also has been freely used by both sides. During a recent night the enemy machine guns were again turned on the American trenches, the American replying with an equally vigorous fire.

PLAN TO USE WATER FROM TEST WELLS

Council Hopes to Increase Supply From North Side Station in This Way—October Health Report Presented.

The only formal action taken at the meeting of the city council Monday morning was the approval of the report of Dr. A. M. King, health physician. This report showed the total number of deaths in Jacksonville during the month of October as 38. Of this number 16 occurred at Jacksonville state hospital. The most significant item in the report was the figures on contagious diseases, indicating that there are now 13 cases of typhoid fever in the city.

As is now usual at this time of year, the water supply was the principal theme of discussion. This subject came to notice when the department reports were called for. Mr. Vasconcellos stated that the supply at Morgan lake is dangerously low and that at the present rate of pumping the supply there will be totally exhausted in less than a week's time. The commissioner said he had made arrangements for temporary pumping from two of the test wells sunk on the Freitag land. This meant that arrangemnts had been made with the owner of the land and now the task which confronts the department is to secure equipment which can be used speedily to bridge over the emergency. It is impossible to buy equipment now and secure it in any reasonable time and so the only course left is to borrow pumps from some source.

May Use Traction Engines.

If no other plan can be devised, a steam engine will be pressed into service and with this power the two test wells will be operated. By a new arrangement of piping the water from these two wells can be run into the cistern and the general supply thus augmented. One of these wells runs to the same strata as the other wells at the north side station and the second one to a much greater depth. If pumping from these wells does not lessen the supply already coming from the wells in use it is the expectation that the capacity of the north side station can be quite materially increased. However, as according to weather bureau forecast, there is no immediate prospect of relief from rain, the only course left is for water consumers to use economy. If all consumers will voluntarily take this course it may not be necessary for the city to take any drastic action with reference to large users. The situation is really even more acute than was true a year ago because no addition to the supply can be secured from the Ashelby pond source. As previously pointed out, the additional supply secured there last year resulted from the fact that a certain amount of water was flowing from a drainage ditch running southwest from the pond. This year there is no water in this ditch and there is only a very little in the pond.

Mayor Rodgers and other members of the council agreed with Mr. Vasconcellos that every possible effort should be put forth to get these test wells into speedy operation. Mr. Cox reported general work in progress on city streets and the early necessity for flushing some sewers. This work will be postponed just as long as safely possible on account of the depleted water supply.

No action was taken with reference to the petition presented at the last meeting by the hosemen in the fire department, asking for an increase in pay and fixing Nov. 15 as the time limit. There was some informal discussion of street improvement work, the statement being made that all the concrete foundation for the West State street car track would be finished not later than today. It is understood that the Standard Paving Co. had men at work putting down asphalt on South Prairie street and this company has finished the laying of the concrete foundation on West State street. The council adjourned after a very short session.

The report of Dr. A. M. King, health warden, gave the following statistics:

Deaths in the city 38, insane hospital 16; residents 24, non residents 18. These deaths are divided as follows: under 1, six; 1 to 10, two; 20 to 50, nine; 50 to 70, twelve; over 70, thirteen. The report on contagious diseases was as follows: tuberculosis one, typhoid fever, thirteen.

VIOLENT ARTILLERY ACTIONS NEAR AISNE

Paris, Nov. 12—The war office announcement tonight reads:

"Quite violent artillery actions occured in the region north of the Chemin des Dames, between the Miette and the Aisne, as well as in the cestor of Chaume Wood.

"Belgian communication—In the course of the night a detachment carried out a raid with a complete success on the Terstylee farm. After inflicting serious losses on the enemy garrison and blowing up the shelter our troops brought back some prisoners, down around Dixmude in reprisals for a bombardment with gas by the enemy near Oudecapelle and Whuizen. The day was characterized by a slight diminution in artillery artivity."

KAISER VISITS ITALIAN FRONT.

Amsterdam, Nov. 12.—The German emperor arrived Sunday at the Italian theater where he met Emperor Charles and King Ferdinand, according to a Gorizia despatch. He congratulated Emperor Charles on his escape from drowning.

ALL BAKERIES UNDER FEDERAL LICENSE

President Wilson Issues Proclamation On Subject

Food Administration Will Standardize Bread Making and Expects to Reduce Prices—$5,000 Fine or Two-Years Imprisonment or Both for Violating Law.

Washington, Nov. 12.—All bakeriers in the Lnited States including those of hotels, restaurants and clubs and excepting only the small neighborhood maker of bread who uses less than ten barrels of flour per month are required to come under federal license after Dec. 10 by a proclamation issued tonight by President Wilson.

All "persons, firms, corporations and associations, who manufacture for sale bread in any form, cakes, crackers, biscuits, pastry or other bakery products are directed to take out licenses, which will subject them to rigid regulations now being drafted by the food administration. Thus the great manufactures of cakes and crackers sold thruout the world will be effected in company with the bakeries which sell their products in the city of their location. Under its regulations the food administration will standardize bread making and Administrator Hoover expects to force prices for npound loaves downward, probably to seven or eight cents. Fancy breads are to be eliminated loaves to be in one, one and one half, two and four pound sizes and sugar content is to be cut down from six to three pounds per barrel of flour.

The president's proclamation recites the provisions of the food law and says:

"Al persons, firms, corporations and associations, who manufacture for sale, bread in any form, cake, crackers, biscuits, pastry or other baking products (excepting however, those whose consumption of any flour and meal in the manufacture of such products, is in the aggregate, less than ten barrels a month,) are hereby required to procure a license on or before Des. 10, 1917. This includes hotels, restaurants, other public eating places and clubs who serve bread or other bakery products of their own baking.

Applications for licenses must be made to the United States food administration, Washington, D. C., law department, license division, on forms prepared by it for that purpose, which may be obtained on request.

"Any person, firm, corporation or association, other than those hereinbefore excepted, who shall engage in or carry on any business hereinbefore specified after Dec. 10, 1917, without first procuring such license will be liable to the penalty prescribed by said act of congress."

The penalty is $5,000 fine or two years imprisonment or both.

FIRST NAVY MEDAL OF HONOR AWARDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The first navy medal of honor to be awarded since the United States entered the war Secretary Daniels, announced today goes to Patrick McGunigal of Youngstown, Ohio.

The following account of how McGunigal won the honors was authorized by Secretary Daniels:

"A kite balloon used for observation by a United States cruiser in the war zone, was struck by a squall four hundred feet in the air. The balloon dropped about two hundred feet. The spare cable was hauled aboard ship but the basket was whipped and twisted and the pilot was entangled beyond hope of releasing himself. Patrick McGunigal, ship's fitter first class, in the service about thirteen years climbed down the side of the ship, jumped to ropes leading to the basket, cleared the tangle sufficiently to release the pilot and, putting a boat line about him had him hauled on deck. McGunigal was then brought safely to the deck of the ship."

MEMBERS OF BRITISH MISSION MAKE TALKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—At conferences here today members of the special mission of the British munitions ministry addressed representatives of local and district exemption boards and women interested in industrial questions. Sir Stevenson Kent and Captain Cyril Asquith talked on conscription, congratulating this country for having adopted it at the outset and advised board members as to handling the draft. They also explained labor distributions and agreements practiced in England with satisfactory results. The men were addressed on industrial questions by Professor Dailey.

Three men pleaded guilty to charges of rioting today. They were sentenced to thirty days in jail each.

ROBBERS LEAVE MEAT.

Freeport, Ill., Nov. 12.—Robbers, who the police say had a queer sense of values, took $800 from the safe of John Williams' butchershop last night, but left several hundred pounds of meat in the refrigerator untouched.

War News Summarized

The Italians and the Austro-German armies are in battle array along the Piave river from the hilly region in the north to the Adriatic Sea—the Italians on the western side and the enemy along the eastern bank.

The main army of the Austro-Hungarians and Germans has taken the place of the advanced gurd which has been scattered along the stream for several days and already thruout the entire region the guns of both sides are engaged in duels. Thus far, however, the enemy is using only five inch guns, having been unable as yet to bring his heavier pieces into action. The guns of the Italians consist in considerable numbers of those they were able to bring back with them during the retreat from the Isonzo front.

The Italians are stoutly holding the line along the Piave and also in the region running westward thru the hilly country from the vicinity of Feltre to the Sette Communi. Several attempts made by the enemy to pierce the northern front and encircle the Italian left wing have failed.

The Berlin official communication asserts that on the upper Piave, 10,000 Italians have been cut off and forced to surrender and also that the Teutonic allies have pressed southward from Belluni and are now standing before the town of Feltre, which is on the west bank of the Piave. It is considered possible that the enemy may make an attempt to press southward from this region along the valley and the railroad, but the Italians here are entrenched in strong positions which apparently cannot be taken except under heavy losses.

The situation in Russia as a result of Bolsheviki is still obscure. No direct despatches have been received from the Russian capital since Sunday evening when it was reported that there had been considerable street fighting in various parts of the city in which the military cadets followers of Premier Kerensky were worsted by the Bolsheviki troops at several points. The fighting was begun by the cadets owing to reports that Kerensky with a large body of men was close to the capital. The premier and his followers, however, had not put in an appearance up to Sunday night.

On the battlefields in France and Belgium comparative calm prevails, except for the usual artillery activity, and raiding operations.

In Palestine the Turks who have been pushed back on numerous sectors by the British forces under General Allenby are now preparing defensive positions twenty miles southwest of Jerusalem near Hebron. The British however are using their mounted troops and again have made some progress toward El Tine. Scottish infantry also has attacked the enemy's right flank successfully and captured number of machine guns.

Gas masks are now being worn by American troops in the trenches in France as a result of the Germans using gas shells against them. Both the Americans and the Germans are using considerable quantities of shrapnel against opposing positions.

GOVERNMENT RIFLES USED IN RACE RIOTS

East St. Louis, Ill. Nov. 12.—Thirty rifles and 10,000 rounds of ammunitition owned by the United States government were taken at midnight from the store room of the East St. Louis Rifle Club to the Aluminum Ore company during the strike there last April. This was admitted today by E. M. Sorrels, secretary of the rifle club in his testimony before the congressional investigating committee. Sorrels is now superintendent of river transportation for the ore company.

The rifle company obtained the rifles from the government under a federal law which gives the war department authority to lend rifles and provide ammunitation to clubs for the purpose of improving general practice in markmanship. Sorrels took responsibility for the loan of the rifles saying he would have lent them to any plant were property was in danger from labor troubles. Chairman Chamberlain said the committee would call the attention of the war department to the testimony.

SEEK CLUES TO SOLDIER'S MURDERER

Chicago, Nov. 12.—A photograph of a handsome girl and the names and addresses of a score of other girls found among the effects of John A. Andrew Becker an enlisted man at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station have started the police on hunts for clues as to his murderer.

Becker was found dead in a downtown office building yesterday, bloodstains gave evidence of his having made a fierce fight for life. Mary Casemier, whose address is known only to the police is the young woman whose photograph they have found. One theory on which the police still are working is that Becker may have been murdered by a jealous rival for the affections of some woman whom he may have met in the buildings. The girls whose names were found in his note book will be interviewed as to this.

WILL REMAIN COMMANDER.

London, Nov. 12.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Petrograd, dated Sunday says Premier Kerensky issued a proclamation saying he would remain commander-in-chief until a decision on the question had been reached by the provisional government.

THREE SOLDIERS DIE IN TRAIN SMASH UP

Accident Occurs on Mountain Curve of Denver & Rio Grande

Flagman Who Should Have Placed Torpedoes on Track to Warn Succeeding Trains Fails to Perform Duty and Disappears.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 12.—A missing flagman holds the key to why one troop train crashed into the tail end of another on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad today on a mountain curve near Cotopaxi, 72 miles west of Pueblo with a death list of three soldiers (all from Utah) and injuries to fifteen, two of whom, Sergeants D. Tarbett and Lewis Edwards, may die.

The missing man, whose name was not known to the general officers of the railroad tonight, was flagman of the leading troop train.

The dead are: Chester P. Preston, first sergeant; Fred T. Whitehouse, musician, and Guy B. Alexander, band leader.

Ahead of the first troop train was a freight train, which stopped to cool a hot box. The troop train also stopped. It had scarcely attained a speed of five miles an hour on proceeding again when the second troop train, running 25 miles an hour struck it, smashing a caboose and driving a heavy steel hospital car thru a tourist sleeper just ahead of it.

In this car were members of the band and headquarters company of the regiment. According to railroad officials here the flagman of the first troop train should have placed two torpedoes on the track when called back to his own preparatory to its moving on again, which would have delayed any succeeding train until a safety "clearance" had been obtained by the front troop train. The wreckage blocked the single track near Cotopaxi for hours, the first train getting thru shortly before two o'clock this afternoon. The dead were sent back to Salida to be prepared for return to their homes in Utah and the injured were taken east with the remainder of the regiment.

Fail to Protect Rear End

Pueblo, Colo., Nov. 12.—The failure of the train crew in charge of the second section of No. 16 to properly protect the rear of the train while repairs were being made was the cause of the collision early today near Cotopaxi in which three soldiers were killed and 16 more injured, according to Sergeant Oden in a statement made upon the arrival of the train here tonight. Sergeant Oden tonight stated that no torpedoes had been placed on the track and that the flagman had not returned to the train when it started.

All of the injured went east tonight with the other troops, in charge of the army physicians. It was stated all would recover.

ASK BILLION DOLLARS FOR OVERSEA PLANES

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Resolutions urging appropriation by congress of not less than one billion dollars to build "an emergency air fleet of huge planes capable of oversea flights to offset the mobility of German forces on their interior lines of communications were adopted at the annual meeting of the Aero club of America here today.

The resolutions recommended that this sum be in addition to one billion dollars needed to carry out the general aeronautic program of training aviators and building military airplanes. Appointment of an allied air board to co-ordinate the aeronautic efforts and resources of the allied countries also was proposed.

NEW ARMY DRAFT REGULATIONS READY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Copies of the new army draft regulations came off the press today for a final reading preparatory to mailing to the local exemption boards thruout the country. They will be in the hands of all boards next week to govern all future drafts.

Under the new plan supplying information as to proper classification under the selective service law rests on the registrant.

The questionaire is the basis of the plan of grouping registrants in five classes, liable for duty by classes. The boards will be able to classify a man immediately when his questionnaire has been received.

Lamont also received the military medal, the highest purely military distinction in the French army.

The automobile transport which Lamont and Thompson were driving was struck by a German shell. Lamont's left hand was nearly blown off and its amputation was necessary.

TITLE BELONGS TO ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 12.—Title to the bed of the Illinois and Michigan canal from Lockport to Chicago remains in the State of Illinois according to an opinion of Attorney General Brundage today, despite the fact that an act of the legislature of 1903 authorized the construction of the sag cut at Lockport which made the canal dry from that point northward.

RUSH LUMBER TO SHIP BUILDING YARDS

New York, Nov. 12.—To facilitate transportation of heavy lumber needed for new ships building yards the railroad war board announced here tonight that 1,500 flat cars had been rushed in the last week to lines operating in the Southeastern part of the country. Prompt movement of more than 3,000 box cars into the West and Middle West to protect government orders of grain and hay also has been ordered by the commission on car service it was stated.

A general order has just been issued to the railroads it was announced instructing them to use strict economy in handling refrigerator cars, the supply being unequal to the demand. Shippers also have been urged to load cars to full capacity instead of "wasting car effiency thru continued shipment of minimum car loads."

More liberal use of box cars instead of refrigerator cars for moving potatoes was urged on the railroads.

ECONOMY IN MAN POWER, FOOD AND RAW MATERIAL

New York, Nov. 12.—Economy in man power, food and raw materials is of supreme importance if the war is to be won Sir Stephenson Kent, head of the special mission to the United States of the British ministry of munitions, told members of the chamber of commerce of the state of New York at a luncheon in honor of the visitors here today. He declared that the end of the conflict is not in sight and that "we must try to organize ourselves so perfectly that we shall be making war as economically and as perfectly as we can."

"Your nation will suffer from an unsufficiency of skill," he said. "You will have to introduce unskilled men to do the work of highly skilled men, you will have to bring women to do work that you don't want women to do, but it is the necessity of war that you have to make use of women and of men to carry you thru to pull you thru this very long job that we have in front of us."

The specific charge against him is that he is an alien enemy and without a permit to be within prohibited territory.

WILL CUT PROFIT

Washington, Nov. 12.—Coal companies which charge the price set by the government and require a purchaser to do his own hauling will have their margin of profit cut by the fuel administration. Administrator Garfield gave this warning today on receipt of reports that some dealers have curtailed the service, such as delivery which formerly was included in the market price of fuel. All such complaints will be promptly investigated.

INVESTIGATING CAUSE OF FIRE.

New York, Nov. 12.—Investigation of the fire of unknown origin which yesterday destroyed the plant of the Washburn Wire company on the Harlem water front had failed tonight to disclose proof of incendiarism. Four Germans and ten Hungarians employed in the factory were examined today, but it was not stated whether their testimony had aided the investigators.

New York, Nov. 12.—The latest rise in the price of food in New York will affect pet dogs at several of the leading hotels. BOLSHEVIKI STILL CONTROL PETROGRAD

Desperate Street Battles Occur in City Sunday

Military Cadets Attempt to Regain City for Kerensky Forces—Committee of Public Safety Agents Will Seek to Arrange Compromise.

Petrograd, Nov. 12.—Petrograd is still in the hands of the Bolsheviki after desperate street battles Sunday in which a handful of military cadets were exterminated or captured by members of the Bolsheviki upon whom they inflicted considerable losses.

The committee of public safety agents have gone to Gatchina to try to arrange a compromise between the Kerensky forces and the Bolsheviki.

Cadets Lack Ammunition.

Petrograd, Nov. 11.—The military cadets or "junkers" encouraged by the reported proximity to the capital of the forces of Premier Kerensky made an ineffectual attempt today to regain control of the city. This resulted in almost constant street fighting in various quarters. Early in the morning the cadets surprised the small guard of Bolsheviki at the central telephone exchange and, backed by armored motor cars forced the Bolsheviki to surrender. Until nearly dusk the grand Morskaia was the scene of a battle between Bolsheviki troops and cadets to the number of about one hundred, who were firing from windows and supported by a machine gun in the armored car in the street in front of buildings. The cadets surrendered when they had exhausted their ammunition. On the Nevsky Proskt cadets with an armored car also tried to make a stand and precipitated another battle in which most of them were killed or made prisoners. The cadets apparently were the same as those who were defending the winter palace Wednesday night and Thursday and were permitted their liberty by the Bolsheviki troops after the surrender of the palace.

In spite of sporadic firing crowds filled the Nevsky Proskt rushing to cover when it became necessary, but otherwise going about as tho nothing unusual were happening. A street leading into the Morskaya in the vicinity of the telephone station contained crowds of country persons who fled at every outburst of shooting, but returned to the posts of observation when lulls occurred. It is believed there were many victims of the fighting in Morskaia.

From the windows of the Associated Press headquarters situated a half block distant an officer was observed to fall in the street apparently dead. An outlook in a doorway was struck by a glancing bullet and wounded in the arm. The ambulances were kept busy.

New proclamations both by the Bolsheviki and the adherents of Kerensky appeared at intervals thruout the day. They called on the people and the troops to support this or that side and collected crowds wherever posted. It is reported that one of the proclamations signed by Kerensky and dated Gatchina was dropped from an airplane.

MILITANTS ARE FOUND GUILTY IN POLICE COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The forty one militants of the woman's party who made a demonstration before the white house Saturday were found guilty in the police court today of obstructing traffic. The court however, expected, blocked the expected wholesale reinforcement of the women now serving jail terms for similar offenses by suspending all sentences. This afternoon a militant force of thirty one, including Mrs. William Kent and 26 others who had been in court, appeared in front of the white house with banners and were arrested. They were released on bond to appear tomorrow.

Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, wife of the pure food expert was the only defendant to note an appeal from the court's decision today and she did not join the afternoon session.

REPORT ATTEMPT TO FORM CABINET FAILS

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A Reuter dispatch from Stockholm says that travelers arriving on the frontier from Russia report that the attempt of Nikolai Lenine to form a cabinet in Petrograd failed, that the foreign office officials refused to accept Leon Trotzky as foreign minister and in Moscow another government has been proclaimed and it is feared there will be much bloodshed.

In Finland the travelers are reported as saying the situation is desperate. Anarchy is on the increase and acts of violence and even murder committed on the streets by the Maximalists are a frequent occurrence.

Germany has one possession which continues to grow, it is said. That is the list of her enemies, for now there are twenty one countries engaged in this world war against Germany—in this struggle that liberty and democracy may not perish from the earth.

Senator Sherman declares rightly that the only reason the German navy is not attacking us is because the navy of Great Britain has the German fleet bottled up. That's another good reason why we can well afford to lend money to our English ally. Besides the security is still mighty good.

A HOPEFUL AND SANE VIEW.

News from abroad is very disturbing, we must admit. Nobody knows just how to sum up the Russian situation. But no matter how bad the conditions which results from the Russian collapse or the Russian weakness, that fact only accentuates the truth that America has a great task. There is no use being blind to the situation but there is some measure of consolation in the thought expressed by Henry P. Davison of the Red Cross war council, who said recently:

"Russia is unorganized. I do not believe that it is in the power of Kerensky or any other single man to put Russia into the war; I do not believe it is in the power of Kerensky or any other man to put Russia out of the war."

WHERE THERE'S A WILL.

If there are any Morgan county women who grow weary in knitting or in any Red Cross work they should read this story about the activities of women at Akra, N. Dakota. It needs no comment.

"In this little country town, way up near the Canadian border, all the women and girls enlisted in Red Cross work. The first thing they knew they had knitted into Sammy socks all the yarn. They sent a delegate to Grand Fork and then to Fargo for yarn and could get none.

"Did thy throw up their hands and quit? Not those women of Akra: They sent this message along the roads of Pembina county: 'Shear all sheep for Red Cross.'

"Hundreds of farmers did that. They brought the wool in to the women of Akra who carded, wove and spun black and white wool into just the right shade of 'army gray' yarn. It was no small job, but the women of Akra have yarn for all winter."

NINETY SIX.

The young woman who last night at the army Y. M. C. A. conference reported the contributions from Illinois college mentioned modestly that ninety-six young men now represent that institution in the various branches of the army and navy service. There were many in the company who doubtless did not catch the words, or at least who did not consider them in their real significance. It seems almost beyond belief that Illinois college, ranking as it does among the smaller colleges in the matter of attendance, should have ninety six of its men in the service, in this great struggle for liberty.

No higher testimonial could be given of the training in mind and body and in ideals that the young men at Illinois college receive. These patriotic sons of Illinois are true to the traditions of the old college. It is written in history that men of Illinois performed service of incalculable benefit to the union in the days of the '60s. The patriotism and spirit of the forefathers has descended "to the third and fourth generation" and certainly Illinois college of today can point with great pride to that honor roll of ninety six names.

HE'S WORTH ALL OF IT.

(New York Telegram)

An official statement from Washington is liable to make our marines as much envied as they are respected abroad.

According to a war bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society, a first class private in the United States Marine Corps, serving abroad, draws $41 a year more than a Russian colonel, $64 a year more than a German lieutenant for the first three years, $31 a year more than a first lieutenant of the Austrian army and $19 a year more than a junior lieutenant in the service of Italy.

We are glad of it. The fighting man anywhere earns his money, and the United States marine, living always up to his motto, "Semper Fidelis," is a credit to his country.

THEY SPEND THE MONEY HERE.

Those pessimists who look at the depressing conditions of the stock markets and who talk gloomily of the hard financial times that are sure to come because the U. S. is lending so much money to England and other of our allies, should weigh this argument presented in the Bache Review of financial conditions. This writer sets forth that our financial condition here is different from that of the European countries in that the money that we lend is spent here. This is the line of argument:

"There is one vitally different condition in the situation in the United States which places this country in an unique position. England and France have been raising great sums to carry on the war and spending a large part of these funds out of the country, thus impoverishing their resources to this extent. Of the vast amounts that we are providing and will provide further for ourselves and for our Allies, all or nearly all will be expended right here in our midst and the operation will effect mainly a turnover of capital, and not a depletion of it, as if it were paid out of the country.

"This is one feature which has not yet been given much consideration and the beneficial results of which are only beginning to show themselves.

"Besides this we have in the United States material resources and wealth so great that anything like exhaustion is unthinkable. Germany is estimated to have used up one-third of her wealth. A like proportion for the United States would mean the expenditure upon the war of 80 billions of dollars, and even this tremendous outlay would not exhaust, because thru harvests and accelerated production from practically inexhaustible mines, resources would have been partly renewed."

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO.

On a wild and almost impassable road in the Macedonian mountains, a correspondent of Le Figaro of Paris reports that he met an automobile driven by a gracious and smiling young woman, one of the staff of the Scottish Women's Hospital, with headquarters at Salonica, one section of which is in these mountains.

He visited their encampment in a wild and desolate spot on the Cerna River, where all the activities of the hospital are carried on in the open air or in tents; there are five ambulances and three touring cars, dormitories with stoves for cold weather and mosquito bars for hot days, where they care for wounded Russians, French, Serbs and English, and had even some Germans and Bulgarians. There is a well-equipped operating room, kitchen, laundry, and further off, tents where the Scottish women sleep, when they have a chance.

The hospital was founded by women and all posts are held by them, not only nurses but doctors, surgeons, chauffeurs, orderlies—the only thing a man can do is to be wounded or sick. The ambulances go over these frightful roads clear to the first line, to bring back badly wounded men that would otherwise have to be carried on mule back for 12 to 15 hours.

The personnel is made up of the best families of Scotland. When told that they were doing a great work they replied—"What is wonderful about it? This war is for everybody. Our husbands and our brothers are doing their part, we are doing ours."

Some American women are already doing the same things as those of Scotland. There will be more of them as this country's share in the war is enlarged. As missionaries, as teachers, American women have already girdled the earth, and they can be depended upon to take the Red Cross uniform to the most distant spot where humanity is to be served.

KNIT FOR THE SOLDIERS

"Why aren't more American women knitting?" is the frantic query of Maj. Grayson M. P. Murphy, head of the American Red Cross in France. More American women are knitting more than they have knitted for a century in America. Women are knitting everywhere and at every time. But most of them are knitting bright colored sweaters for themselves, for Christmas gifts to their women friends. It isn't one woman in ten who takes khaki or gray yarn out of the gay bag that swings from her arm.

This will be the worst winter that northern France has known. The supply of wood and other fuel which was available last winter has been materially decreased by the summer's warfare. And now there are not only the French and English armies and the thousands of refuges to be kept warm but the American expeditionary force. Keeping warm in France this winter for the fighting armies will be a matter of clothing more than of fuel. If there is not enough warm clothing death will reap a greater harvest this winter than war.

This isn't sentiment. It is cold fact.

Whenever a woman knits a gay colored sweater when she might be knitting for the desperate need overseas she is by her criminal negligence exposing some one to illness and possible death. Every ball of fancy yarn is one ball of yarn taken from the possible supply of khaki or gray. It is practically impossible to buy khaki yarn today, and the reason is that women have taken to fancy knitting with a fury with which almost no other fad has ever swept the country.

There should be a yarn commission. The extravagant use of brightly colored yarn should be made impossible. And women should be made to realize that knitting for themselves is as unpatriotic as a prodigal feast in war time.

"Protect Your Boy"

(By Porter Emerson Browne of the "Vigilantes")

This is written to every father, to every mother, to every brother, to every sister, to every uncle- to every aunt, to everybody who has a boy that he or she loves.

Your boy is either at the front, or in the camps, or waiting to be sent to the camps—which means that some day he will be sent to the front; for Germany is a nation as strong as she is cruel, as powerful as it is merciless and this war, which we must fight or become as Belgium has become, a nation of corpses and slaves, will take all our men, all our money, all our fortitude to win.

You loved your boy when he was at home, didn't you? You did for him all that love, and care, and kindness, and tenderness and devotion could do to keep him straight, and clean, and happy. . . . . You loved him that he was yours. He loved you for the love you gave him.

Now he is gone, or is going, away. It is right that he should go. It is God's will that he should go. He goes to defend you whom he loves against those that would rape and rob and kill; that would make this land of ours a shambles and a shame; that would make the words "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," a bloody sneer against the vast background of time.

And now, as he goes, you must say to him, "God bless you, and bring you safely back to us!" . . . . . You kiss. . . . Your hand lingers in his—lingers, quivering—and then withdraws. . . . . And he has gone. . . . . .

He has left you For a time he has gone from your life and you from his . . . . .

He will be exposed to many temptations—even as would you at his age. Many men and many women will try in many ways to tempt him to do the things that he should not. Life is life; and to be human, and young, is to be all that the words human, and young mean. . . .

But there is one way in which you can still be with him—by which the hand of yours that aided his baby footsteps—that helped him in his little lessons of primer and arithmetic—that guided him past childish dangers—can still reach out to and help him. . . .

Better than we, the Young Men's Christian Association realizes the power of evil associates, of rotten environment, of the sodden dangers that are bound to pitfall the road of those that are human, and young.

These men want to give your boy the things that you, who love him, can no longer give him. They want to give him clean places to live in, clean books to read, clean games to amuse, clean music to hear and sing, clean drinks to drink, clean associations with which to associate. They want to send him back to you as honest, as fearless, as gentle, as clean as when he left you.

To give him these things, this attention, this love, this care, will take money. These people that would do it, do not want your money for themselves. They want your money only that it may be spent in caring for your boy. They can now do what you no longer can. Will you help them to do this thing? Or will you, now that your boy has gone far away, turn your back and leave him to be stained, and coarsened, and corrupted in the hands of those who would exploit him in sin for profit, and in corruption for a price?

Evil women, rotten men, and the counterfeit joys that dwell in the glittering hell holes where rum distorts the brain and stimulates the body, beset the path of every young male human being in the world.

Protect your boy from these things new. . . . . Or else don't blame him too harshly if a different boy comes back to you from the boy who went away.

FAT AMERICA

Prosperiety with us abides, and want's to us unknown, while over Europe's countrysides the hungry people moan. For years poor Europe has been torn, has heard the battle din, while we have planted fields of corn, and borne the harvest in. Privation has not made us lank, no wolf is at our door; we have our bundles in the bank, and credit at the store. Our table's spread, we sit thereat, and costly joints we carve; and it is shameful to be fat, while wailing millions starve. Oh, let us discipline our souls, and far less selfish be, and strip some williams from our rolls, to send across the sea. And when our noble country calls for samples of long green, to purchase clubs and cannonballs, or sink a submarine, let's gladly, proudly flash our wads, and loosen up like men; too long our plunks have been our gods, our shrine has been the yen. America alone is fat, and basking in her grease; the nations have been trampled flat, since Wilhelm broke the peace. And while the stricken nations toil in warfare, lean and lame and paint with blood the riven soil, our fatness is a shame.

GIFTS WHICH SOLDIERS WILL APPRECIATE

Dr. Jesse S. Dancey Describes Needs of Fighting Men in France—Suggests Gifts With Personal Touch.

In response to the statement that the girls of Illinois Woman's college would like to do some thing for the men now at the front, Dr. J. R. Harker has received some practical gift suggestions from Dr. Jesse S. Dancey, now serving as chaplain with the allied forces in France. The writer suggests that the gifts be individual and that each one be accompanied by a little note containing a Christmas greeting and a request that the receipient write to the sender. This, he says, would result in a set of interesting letters for the girls to compare. The letter outlining the plan follows:

General Hospital No. 18.
B. E. F. France, Oct. 22, 1917.

Dear Dr. Harker:

Your very kind letter came t night. I read all the news it brought me with great eagerness. I have not had a report of the Illinois conference.

Your suggestion that the girls would like to do something for our boys here is splendid. So far as our American boys are concerned, I can think of nothing that is needed, but the situation is not quite the same with our dear lads here from the trenches—our fine Scotch boys, English, Welch, Irish Canadians, New Zealanders, Australians and South Africans. These lads have been bearing unspeakable hardships. Some of them haven't seen home for years, especially the overseas lads. They are lonely and need something to cheer them up mentally even more than they need anything for their bodies. A soldier's kit is pretty carefully made up and there isn't much room for anything outside of regulations. Then the poor soldier has about 90 lbs. to carry. So I wouldn't suggest sending much in that line.

But we are going to have hundreds of lonesome boys here at Christmas time. What will appeal to them most will be something personal. I would suggest something on this order: don't send cigarettes. There are cigarettes to burn here, but a small package of nice candy, a handkerchief with something on it to make it a nice souvenir (the boys are death on souvenirs) or any other little article. Chocolates are especially appreciated. Then most important of all I would suggest that these gifts be individual and that each girl put a little note in it wishing the soldier a merry Christmas, a blighty (a wound bad enough to send him to England—nothing is coveted more) or a speedy end of the war; and also giving her address and asking him to write her a note. Pictures are appreciated also but a little candy in each package will be appreciated. The whole lot can be consigned to me in one or several packages and I will see that they are given out on Christmas day. And I will ask the boys to not to fail to write. Many of the boys are not great letter writers so it might be well for the girls to ask them to tell them about anything they want to know about particularly. They are glad to talk when led by questions. The result should be a set of interesting letters for the girls to compare. If this plan interests the girls. I am sure it will be popular here.

Yours as ever,
Jesse S. Dancey.

NEWSPAPER MEN HELD CONFERENCE IN DECATUR

City and Telegraph Editors of Illinois Papers Have Organized Association—Addresses by Supt. Cowles of Associated Press.

John W. Priest, formerly of this city and now employed as telegraph editor of the Springfield State Register was elected president of the City and Telegraph Editors association of Illinois which held their first meeting in Decatur, Sunday.

Paul Cowles, superintendene of the Central division of the Associated Press was the principal speaker. Mr. Cowles discussed the service which the Associated Press is giving its members. Mr. Cowles said that accuracy came first with the Associated Press.

Mr. Cowles also discussed the effort being made thru litigation which has been affirmed by the federal courts and is now before the supreme court to prevent news which has been secured at considerable cost from being stolen and used for a profit by other news agencies or newspapers.

Mr. Cowles said that one despatch received by the Associated Press from Rome cost that organization $5,000 in cable tolls. When this story appeared in New York papers, some organizations simply purchased a copy of the paper for one cent and thus obtained the news at a very small cost. The court proceedings now pending are for the purpose of putting an end to news stealing.

The banquet was served at the Orlando Hotel and was served in excellent style.

The officers elected are:

President—John W. Priest, of Springfield State Register, Springfield.

Vice president—W. H. Gronemeier, Bulletin, Bloomington.

Secretary Treasurer—Ralph L. Sisson, Herald, Decatur.

Executive committee—W. E. Pringle, Danville W:. O. Marquis, Quincy; Mr. Edmundson, Rockford.

The next meeting of the organization will be held in Chicago.

Walter H. DeShara of Jacksonville represented the Associated Press Good-fellowship Club and in behalf of the club invited the City and Telegraph Editors association to hold their next meeting in the same city with the A. P. Club. Favorable action was taken on the plan and a committee was appointed to meet the A. P. men.

LOCAL BOARD FACTS FOR PROVOST MARSHAL

Summaries Asked for in Recent War Department Order are Ready—System of Records Here Made Possible Prompt Compliance.

The directions sent by Provost Marshal Crowder to the Morgan county local board received prompt attention. The order indicated that summaries with reference to enlisted men involving a vast amount of detail were desired in record time. The instructions were carried out literally by the Morgan county local board and record time was indeed made. Miss Genevieve Mount, assistant secretary for the board, and Hugh P. Green, adjutant, began Monday morning to separate the cards into classifications indicated by the war department order. Monday night Dr. Black and these two workers were assisted in tabulation work by Miss Louise Leonhard, Miss Stella Cole, Miss Minnie Wyatt, Miss Clarabel Hopper, R. C. Hufford, Dr. J. G. Ames and Dr. D. W. Reid. The records of the local board had been so thoroly systematized that it was possible by holding this night session with an augmented force of workers, to complete the summaries for which the war department asked. At 10:30 Monday night, therefore, the facts were available and the reports will be forwarded to Provost Marshal Crowder today and telegrams sent to Adjutant Gen. Dickson informing him of that fact.

The system employed by the local board in the matter of records was put to the test by the war department's request and certainly was not "found wanting." Some details from these reports are given herewith, showing the number of men registered, the number examined, the number sent to camp, facts about exemption, the marriage relation, nativity and other facts important to the government in issuing expected orders with reference to an augmented army force.

WHAT BILLY SUNDAY SAYS

In one of his meetings at Boston the noted evangelist said, "I believe that every disease can be cured by some weed if we can only discover it. There is not an ailment that God hasn't somewhere an herb growing that will cure that ailment."

The choice medicinal herbs which will cure women's ailments were discovered more than forty years ago, and have been doing their beneficient work for half a century. Lydia E. Pinkham combined them in convenient form in her famous Vegetable Compound, which is to be found in the drug stores where every ailing woman may conveniently get it at small cost. It does the work.—Adv.

WAR'S HORRORS PICTURED BY CAPTAIN SCOVILLE

Boer War Veteran Recently Returned from Europe Here—Testifies to German Atrocities—Scenes from Field and Hospital Presented—Army Y. M. C. A. Doing Great Work to Give Men in Camp and Trench a Good Touch of Home.

More than $3,000 has already been raised toward Morgan county's contribution of $15,000 to the Army Y. M. C. A. fund. This was the cheerful message voiced Monday night at the supper given at the Y. M. C. A. room on the west side of the square. This sum does not include the fund of more than $1,700 already subscribed by students of Illinois college and Illinois Woman's college. On motion of Dr. Harker, with a second by Andrew Russel, it was unanimously voted that the money contributed by the two colleges should not properly be counted in the Morgan county fund.

The members of the executive committee and the solicitation teams who were present last night listened to a story of the European war told by Capt. Benjamin Scoville which went straight to the heart. Capt. Scoville who is an Englishman by birth, served in the Boer war and not being physically fit for army service now, gave up his profession as an actor to devote his time to entertaining soldiers in army camps and the trenches. He returned to this country two months ago after having spent five months in this work in England and France.

Lost Own Brother

Capt. Scoville had a brother, an officer in the Canadian army, who was one of twelve men crucified by the Germans. Two nephews have been killed in battle, and so in a personal way war's grief has touched his own life. The speaker with a dramatic force that has come thru his stage career brought before the eyes of his audience a picture of the world tragedy so vivid that its horrors were impressed as never before. The awfulness of German ferocity, the barbarous methods of warfare were recounted from personal observation and experience. The story was too horrible for belief were it not that names and dates and places were given, and the auditors knew full well that they had corroborative evidence in published records of months past. True, they had read these stories of men crucified, of women ravished, of children with eyes gouged out, with hands torn, but these atrocities had seemed so far away that they did not sink deep into their minds.

Vivid War Picture

Capt. Scoville brought the facts home. Mingled with the details of European horror the speaker interspersed some sprightly incidents in a way that only an experienced entertainer can do, and so relieved the tension. He recited too, several bits of poetry and altogether the audience was his and he led them to the brink of European trenches where shot and shell made continuous din. He took them into the army camps in France. Thru his eyes they saw the base hospitals and talked with wounded, sightless soldiers. They heard thru him from the lips of soldiers stories of the bravery of Red Cross nurses, crippled themselves for life, as they ministered to the wounded.

The address was indeed a message to the relatives and friends of soldiers at the front urging them in a personal way as they had not been urged before, to do their part in this army Y. M. C. A. work, for the speaker as he related each personal instance led to the point that the army Y. M. C. A. work is making possible a personal service, a betterment of physical and moral conditions for the men under arms that can be given in no other way.

Driving Away Shadows

Benjamin Scoville is a Harvard graduate. The call to service came to him when he was in Los Angeles as a member of the Burbank Theatrical Stock Co. and serving as lecturer at a college there. That message was that his younger brother, who was in service with Canadian troops, has paid the supreme sacrifice, for with twelve others had been cruelly put to death by German soldiers. Capt. Scoville went to Toronto. From his room in the Y. M. C. A. hotel he heard an army band marching down the street he watched a battalion move ready for entrainment, heard the Scotch bagpipes in the distance, the tramp, tramp of troopers getting ready to go over-seas. Across the street he saw a hospital where 190 wounded men returned from Europe were being cared for. He tried to enlist but was refused because he was over age and not physically fit.

Then because of his stage training and his experience as an entertainer, the thought came to him to give an hour's program of amusement to the men in the hospital. The program seemed to drive away so much of the shadow that Scoville went on and on in his work and a few months later landed in England. Then he was in France and Belgium and during succeeding weeks in the army camps thru the agency of the Y. M. C. A. he was able to day by day and night by night give impersonations and readings for the entertainment of the men. This life brought him into intimate contact with the war and with war results. The speaker declared that before he entered this work he looked upon Y. M. C. A. secretaries as mollycoddles, some of them as crooks, as after the money. But he was proud to confess that his observation as he saw these hundreds of men in this army Y. M. C. A. work, scaw what they were doing in personal sacrifice and splendid bravery, that he had utterly changed his mind.

The Heroism of Nurses

He told incident after incident to give point to the reverence with which even the very poor in the lands of our allies look upon the Red Cross workers from the U. S. He was at Charing Cross station when twelve little flower girls, ragged products of the streets, met a delegation bringing in six wounded Red Cross American nurses, to give them flowers purchased from their own mothers. At one hospital Mr. Scoville told of seeing twenty nine wounded American Red Cross nurses, six of them totally blind.

One of the incidents he related, almost beyond belief, was that in one hospital where he was in one department six Red Cross nurses, young women little more than twenty years of age, who seemed to be given particular care. The surgeon in charge related that these six nurses as they were starting with ambulances to pick up fourteen wounded Germans were fired upon by German machine guns and their legs were shot off. Yet these young women in this helpless, hopeless wounded condition maintained a spirit of cheerfulness, seemed to be glad that they had made the great sacrifice. This man in Belgium saw hundreds of blind men, women and children who had been driven from a home for the blind by the Germans, brought in and cared for by the Y. M. C. A. He saw fifty Belgian boys from six to ten years of age whose eyes had been gouged out by drunken Germans. After he had related these and other terrible details, the speaker dramatically said, "and remember tonight how thin is the line that protects your wives and your children from just such violence."

Tears dimmed many an eye as Capt. Scoville related stories of bravery and devotion, as beautiful and awe-inspiring as some of the incidents of savagery were horrible. In closing he appealed to every one within sound of his voice to give every dollar possible to aid in the fight for liberty, democracy, human safety and for God.

City Teams Report

At the conclusion of the address Dr. Rammelkamp made announcement of the general procedure for team work. Members of the teams will meet each day for luncheon and conference. At these noon-day meetings reports will be made of the work done and other work will be outlined. Reports were called for and made as follows by team captains:

Mrs. J. H. Danskin	$145.00
Mrs. F. H. Rowe	200.00
F. H. Bode	660.00
M. L. Pontius	160.00
Dr. Edward Bowe	95.00
E. E. Crabtree	50.00
Charles B. Graff	705.50

From the County

Mrs. Miller Weir announced a contribution of $125 from the Woman's Club and Mrs. Charles A Barnes one of $30 from the Wednesday class. The latter organization has dispensed with the annual open meeting and given the money which such a meeting would cost to the army fund. Dr. Harker, in charge of the subscription work outside of Jacksonville, announced subscriptions as follows:

Alexander	$ 92.00
Chapin	75.00
Lynnville	175.00
Meredosia	100.00
Murrayville	300.00
Waverly	125.00

These subscriptions were reported Monday altho the work of solicitation has hardly been commenced, in fact, in some of the districts the committee will not begin their solicitation work until today.

College Contributions

Miss Vivian Keplinger of Pontiac, for Illinois Woman's College, made report of the raising of $1,000 by faculty and students of the college for this fund. This contribution was made not by asking parents for the money but by personal effort and economy. Miss Ruth Weyand of Hamilton, for Illinois college reported a plan to raise a minimum of $750 and possibly $1,000 and that after two days' solicitation $725 had been reported. Miss Weyand fittingly referred to the great contribution Illinois college had already made thru its ninety six men now in the service in the various branches of the army or navy.

At the suggestion of Dr. Harker, with a second by Andrew Russel and the hearty approval of all persons present, it was decided that the contribution from the two colleges should not be included in the Morgan county total, for many of the students and members of the faculties live elsewhere.

The excellent supper served the workers was arranged by women from Central Christian church. The invocation was by Rev. M. L. Pontous and the closing prayer by Dr. Harker.

This afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the program committee of the Older Boys Conference will meet at T. M. Tomlinson's store to outline the program for the sessions which are to be held here the last of this month and the first of December.

Members of the various teams are urged to be present at the headquarters on the west side of the square today at 12:15. Luncheon will be served promptly and a conference of the workers will be held.

A very enthusiastic meeting was held at Meredosia Monday when a Patriotic Society was organized. Officers were elected and committees appointed to raise the sum assigned to Meredosia for the army fund. It was decided also that the Patriotic society will continue after this campaign is closed and will in various ways aid in prosecuting the war.

The meeting at Woodson Sunday night in the interest of the Army Y. M. C. A. was held at the Christian church. It was a joint service, Rev. Mr. Oldham, pastor of the Christian church and Rev. J. Latham, pastor of the Presbyterian church, having made the arrangements for the service. S. J. Baxter presided and the address of the evening was delivered by Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp. The speaker summarized the needs of the army Y. M. C. A. movement very forcefully and pointed out too, the splendid work which is being done for the soldiers thru this agency. He explained that the money is not asked for the Y. M. C. A. but for the soldiers of the army and navy.

Brief remarks were made also by Dr. G. W. Miller. A campaign committee was organized by the selection of S. J. Baxter as captain and Joseph Self as lieutenant. Following adjournment these officers called into conference members of the solicitation committee and persons who had volunteered to use their automobiles in the campaign work. Woodson's appoortionment is $400 and there is every indication that this sum will be raised very speedily.

SHERMAN SHOWS WHERE DANGER TO NATION LIES

ILLINOIS SENATOR DECLARES TIME FOR DIFFERING OPINIONS IS PAST.

Question Was Presented of Fighting Germany Alone or With the Allies—Better to Send Troops Abroad Than to Have Non-Combatants Slaughtered Here—A Plea for the Army Y. M. C. A. Fund.

At the opera house Sunday afternoon Senator L. Y. Sherman not only gave conclusive argument for the support of the army Y. M. C. A. movement but answered many questions about the war. Those persons who have questioned the necessity of the U. S. entering this great conflict found answer. The senator also convincingly combatted the statement of those misguided Americans who declare that they are perfectly willing to fight the Germans if they come to this country. If we had waited for that situation, in Senator Sherman's view, it would have certainly come. To those who know about German warfare and about the situation abroad it is easy to understand if the German navy were permitted to travel the Atlantic and establish a base off Mexico that the air raids now made on London would be repeated here.

The address thruout was one which rang with patriotism and called all men to the colors for now, the speaker said, it makes no difference what our previous opinions were, the United States is in the conflict and must emerge victorious.

A great audience gathered at the opera house for this meeting. Dr. A. B. Morey offered the opening prayer and Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp as chairman of the Y. M. C. A. army campaign committee, introduced Judge Owen P. Thompson to preside. Judge Thompson spoke with fervent earnestness on the war situation and said that it was with pleasure that he could introduce the eloquent speaker of the afternoon, for he and Senator Sherman had been on terms of friendship for nearly twenty five years. In closing his words of introduction Judge Thompson, referring to the Y. M. C. A. army campaign said, "This indeed is your opportunity and at this time a request for aid should almost come as a command."

Soldiers Entitled to Comforts.

Senator Sherman made acknowledgement of the complimentary words spoken by Judge Thompson and then without further preface entered upon his address. "We are here for a common purpose, to provide what the government does not furnish our soldiers. The men are given uniforms and rations but we are purposing thru the army Y. M. C. A. to give the soldiers needed care and entertainment when off duty. There are 2,000 000 of our young men in camp, on the way to camp or somewhere in the war zone. If this conflict continues, one year from the early months of 1918 the number will probably be 5,000,000 men under arms. It will be the largest army that the United States has ever seen drawn from her own ranks. When in camp these men are homeless. They embark in the performance of a great duty which requires both moral and physical courage. These men are entitled to some features of home life and it is the purpose of the Y. M. C. A. to provide this influence. It is our duty when these young men of ours are cast into the wilderness of great European cities to see that they have places ready for them where the influences are right. The Y. M. C. A. thru its great organization has sent its agents abroad to provide these very things.

"We are here today to plan how we can aid in this movement. It is a duty for those of us who stay at home to give liberally to this fund. It is worth while to mention, too, that in figuring your income tax under the recent law it is proper for you to make deductions of contributions you make to the Y. M. C. A. or the Red Cross.

Reasons for the War

"Whether or not you agree on the necessity of the United States being in this war, war was declared in April, 1917. After considering all the facts I voted that the United States should fight with the allies. It was inevitable that at some time war should come between Germany and this government. Ambassador Gerard in his book quotes the crown prince of Germany as saying 'I believe the war will come during the lifetime of the kaiser, but if not in that time it will come later, if for no other reason, for the fun of it.' When this great conflict is ended the result will be that no man will ever have such power as that now vested in the kaiser and which the crown prince is expecting to inherit.

Always in history there have been some people believing that they must rule by prowess or blood. That is what's the matter with Germany. The government is not responsive to the people. The rulers claim the right to rule because of birth. The kaiser and the senate serve by heredity. It is just as well for the world to meet the issue now and settle for all time what is man's power. There is such a thing as national morality. Germany has taught that any act of its government is right and that there is no review but the sword. I have studied since this war began the works of a leading philosopher, a prominent historian and a great soldier of Germany and they all teach the doctrine of war that it weeds out the weak and destroys the influence of the effeminate. They have taught that war is a great blessing and the sole agency of the development of good traits. So the boys of Germany are taken at the age of six and remain under the hand of the kaiser until they fill soldier's graves.

Fighting Here or Abroad

"Some of my good friends have written me that they were opposed to lending money to England, others have said they were willing to fight this war when Germany sent soldiers to our shores. It is well to remember that if it were not that the English fleet is occupying the attention of the German navy that there would be no force to protect our navy from German attack. England today is fighting our fight and protecting us on the sea and so on land. It is easy to conceive how with German battleships free to traverse the Atlantic, the rich oil fields of Tampico would fall into German hands, base for submarines for aircraft would be established in Mexico and the ruthless raids made on London and which have shocked the world might easily be repeated here. For my part I much prefer to send troops to Germany and to do our fighting there rather than have the Germans come to our own shores and bring their countless terrors to non-combatants.

"Why did not our forefathers pay the small tea tax, about one penny, instead of dumping the tea into Boston harbor? It was because of the principle involved, the same principle which is again at stake, that of self government. So we have some 'conscientious objectors' at the present time. They do not like the idea of going to France to fight. They say, "I will fight the Germans if they come to this country.' Our forefathers were willing to fight to ward off a danger before it reached them. So it was with Abraham Lincoln and the Southern Confederacy. And is it not better and wiser for us to assist the allies in fighting Germany in the Old World than to sit down until they are defeated and then have to meet Germany on our soil, after she has established her base in Mexico and we have to meet her single handed and alone?

"Germany does not wage war as a civilized nation. All the other nations of the earth have rules of warfare which are observed. Gen. Pershing found fault with the Filipinos, when he was warring against them because they used poisoned arrows, poisoned the water, and paid no attention to the rules which obtained among the nations of the earth. What is Germany doing? Witness the slaughtered babes, blown to pieces by air bombs, poisoned wells, and all of the myriad instances of fiendish cruelty and humanity done under the name of 'kultur.' Every nation upon earth, except Germany, has always recognized, in time of war, the immunity of women and children, of non-combatants, but these people take especial delight in warring upon the helpless and unoffending to spread more widely and deeply the universal fear of their 'frightfulness.' We should have begun to fight when the Lusitania was sunk and the women and children went down.

"Why have we not the war upon our own shores today? Why are not the guns of the German fleet hurling shells into our seacoast cities? Because that fleet is inclosed within the iron ring of England's vessels and they cannot get out. Do we not owe England something in this matter, and is it not our duty to assist her and France and the other allies in this the hour of their need? Who has not read the "Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World?' The history of the sixteenth was written when the battle of the Marne was fought. But for that battle and the stand maintained by the French line, the kaiser would indeed have done as he said he would, dictated the terms of peace from Paris and London.

"How long will the war last? Until the rights of the little nations of the earth are recognized as well as those of the big ones. Until German autocracy and Prussian militarism have learned to behave."

JAS. G. WILMETH WRITES FROM CAMP TAYLOR

Letters to Grandfather and Mother Tell of Experences of Soldier Life —Is Ambitious to be Officer.

The following letters from James G. Wilmeth written from Camp Taylor will be of interest to the young man's friends here. One letter is written to his grandfather, William G. Smith of 1090 North Main street. The other is to his mother, Mrs. Alice Smith of 758 Bedwell street.

Nov. 6, 1917.

Dear Grandpa:

Will try and answer your kind and welcome letter just received. Was glad to hear from your. I am well as usual, hope you are all the same. I will be here three weeks tomorrow. Am very well satisfied here so far. Will soon have a pay day. I was up town yesterday and don't like it very well. Tell everybody hello for me.

There is a Y. M. C. A. in every regiment here and I go once in a while. We have motion pictures twice a week. We don't get very lonesome now as we are always busy doing something. We get up at 5:45 every morning except Sunday and go to bed at 10:30 except Saturday night. I have my uniform now and you ought to see me. I am gaining weight and am feeling a great deal better. It is very cold here now.

We either go to Hattiesburg, Miss., or Little Rock, Ark., soon. I am going to try for the officers training school which starts Jan. 18, 1918, and I hope I succeed. I had some experience in the National Guard before I came here. When I come home I aim to be an officer or a corpse, one or the other. I don't think we will go to France for a while. Maybe not until spring. We have plenty to eat here and a fairly good place to sleep. I will do my part trying to bring the war to a close. I will close, hoping to hear from you soon. With love and best wishes to all,

James G. Wilmeth.

Mother Also Receives Letter.

Nov. 4, 1917.

Dear Mother:

I will answer your letter received Friday. I was glad to hear from you. I am well except for a slight cold. Hope you are all the same. We arehaving some fine weather here. I went in my shirt sleeves all day today but it gets chilly at night. We have a piano here now so we can sing and play and pass away the long evenings. Still we do lots of drilling and training of all kinds. We even learn how to doctor sick horses and humans too. I like it fine here and will like it better when I get paid, as I need a few little things. The government furnishes everything we need but we are allowed to wear anything we want to when we go up town, as long as it is regulation army stuff. I am going to buy an army cap for Sunday and some kind of leggins which will look neat. As soon as I get paid I will have some pictures made and send you some. I have good warm clothes to wear, all I need is a pair of gloves.

I suppose I will be in the army a while now but I wish you would not worry so much, as I am just as safe as if I were at home in bed. I guess you imagine that because we are drafted they treat us any way, but that is a mistake. Here is an example: we had beans and sweet potatoes and good coffee and bananas, apples and oranges for supper. And one day we had chicken since I have been here. We have oats or corn flakes for breakfast. I have a good job now, am taking care of mules and horses and learning to be a veterinarian at the same time. The engineers don't carry rifles so you know they don't do much fighting. But we carry a big army pistol like a Buffalo Bill and we are taught to use it. We are also taught to use a rifle in case we might have to in an emergency.

Will now close, hoping to hear from you soon.

Your son,
James G. Wilmeth.

FEDERATION OF LABOR MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

Demand is Made for Direct Representation of Wage Earners in World Peace Conference—Indicates that U. S. Has Support of Organized Labor in the War.

Buffalo, N. Y. Nov. 12.—Demand for "adequate and direct" representation of wage earners at the world Peace conference is made in the annual report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, submitted today to the Federation in convention here. The report declares that the world war "must wipe out all vestiges of the old conceit that the nation belongs to the ruler."

Questions raised by the war occupy virtually the entire report. No room is left for doubt that the United States government has the unanimous support of organized American labor in the war, and it is asserted with equal emphasis that the vital interests of the average citizen demand that he have a voice in the readjustments to come with the dawn of peace.

Optimism over labor achievements in the last year is tempered with a warning that benefits obtained from emergency opportunities must be based on principles of human welfare and not the result of taking advantage of the nation's necessity. Freedom of expression is upheld, but the report says those who abuse the freedom of the press to undermine the nation's free institutions should be punished as traitors.

Includes President's War Address

President Wilson's war address to Congress is included in the report, with the declaration adopted by a meeting of union officials last March when it was seen to be inevitable that the European conflagration would spread to America. Under the heading "Labor and The War", the report says:

"Under all circumstances it is the duty of any government to protect its people against wilfull and wholesale murder. * * * * A people unwilling to make the supreme sacrifice in support of the government which undertakes to make that principle good are undeserving to live and enjoy the privilege of free, democratic government".

The duty of wage-earners in the war is emphasized particularly in the section of the report devoted to "Peace Terms", which advocates an international agreement to secure peace and the settlement of the present war without "vindictive" indemnities or territorial changes. The section says:

"It is an imperative duty from which there is no escape that wage-earners as well as other citizens of this Republic support our government in its righteous effort to defend principles of humanity and to establish democracy in international relations. Because we desire permanent peace it is our duty to fight and sacrifice until these purposes can be achieved.

War Must Wipe Out Old Idea

"When nations can send representatives to negotiate peace terms in accord with this concept, we maintain that the basic rights and welfare of the men, women and children constituting the nations rather than the governments of the nations. The government should be only an instrumentality of the people instead of dominating and actuating their lives. This terrific war must wipe out all vestiges of the old concept that the nation belongs to the ruler or government.

"We hold that the same principles should apply to relations between nations and that secret diplomacy should be replaced by diplomatic representatives responsible to the people of their own people and received by either the Parliament of the country to which they are accredited or by a representative of the people, responsible to them.

Working people have never been properly represented in diplomatic affairs. The future must be constructed upon broader lines than the past. We insist, therefore, that the government of the United States provide adequate and direct representatives of wage-earners among the plenipotentiaries sent to the Peace congress, and urge upon the labor movements of other countries to take like action.

"We urge the adoption of the following declarations as the basis upon which peace must be negotiated:

1. The combination of the free peoples of the world in a common covenant for genuine and practical co-operation to secure justice and therefore peace in relations between nations.

"2. Governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed.

"3. No political or economic restrictions meant to benefit some nations and to cripple or embarrass others.

"4. No indemnities or reprisals based upon vindicative purposes or deliberate desire to injure, but to right manifest wrongs.

"5. Recognition of the rights of small nations and of the principle, 'No people must be forced under sovereignty under which it does not wish to live.'

"6. No territorial changes or adjustment of power except in furtherance of the welfare of the peoples affected and in furtherance of world peace.

Additional Declarations

"In addition to these basic principles which are based upon declarations of our president of these United States, there should be incorporated in the treaty that shall constitute the guide of nations in the new period and conditions into which we enter at the close of the war the following declarations, fundamental to the best interests of all nations and of vital importance to wage-earners:

"I. No article or commodity shall be shipped or delivered in international commerce in the production of which children under the age of 16 have been employed or permitted to work.

"2. It shall be declared that the basic workday in industry and commerce shall not exceed eight hours.

"3. Involuntary servitude shall not exist except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

"4. Establishment of trial by jury.

"Many of the problems of reconstruction can not be worked out during the war while feeling is so intense. The situation and opportunities which peace will bring will be without precedent. It is of paramount importance that Labor shall be free and unembarrassed in helping to shape the principles and agencies for the future.

"We suggest therefore all prejudices and partisan spirit can best be eliminated by reconstructing international labor relations and thus bring to new problems and a new era, activity and co-operation unhampered and unperverted by former alliances or old feuds.

International Labor Conference

"The basis of reconstruction should be the trade union movements of the various countries. We recommend that an international labor conference of representatives of the trade union movements of all countries be held at the same time and place as the World Peace Congress that Labor may be in touch with plans under consideration and may have the benefit of information and counsel of those participating in the congress."

Reconstruction after the war will raise new issues, the report holds, and the nation cannot discard lightly the idea of service engendered by co-operation of all classes against a common enemy. Pointing to the experience of Great Britain, the council says:

"There has been a recognition of the principle that those associated in the work of production ought to have a voice in management of those things concerning their interest and welfare. There has been recognition for the thought that industrial disfranchisement is as unjust as political disfranchisement. * * * *

"In our own country there is evident in every kind of war work the necessity for some national agencies for better adjusting the supply of workers. We are entering a period where there must be greater economy in the use of the man power of our country. A central, efficient employment agency with its branches are plainly necessary in performing the gigantic task that is now before the Emergency Fleet Corporation and in the necessary work of production of war supplies.

An Invaluable Adjunct.

"With the withdrawal of hundreds of thousands of men for military purposes there is necessity for readjustment in the industrial field. Effective employment agencies, under the control of the Department of Labor, co-operating with local agencies and associations, would be an invaluable adjunct to our war machinery. Such agencies will also be keenly needed in the transition period that will fol-

Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

This drug is sticky but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Editor Journal:

Jacksonville is like many other cities of its size and contains many men of many minds and all of whom have different opinions as to the present war and how it should be conducted. Occasionally you will hear a remark such as "I do not believe in sending our boys to France, but if the enemy invades this country you will find me behind my gun. And I consider myself just as patriotic as any other man." Now haven't you heard just that kind of a remark in the streets of Jacksonville since Uncle Sam shied his star spangled plug hat into the arena of conflict? Of course you have, and will, perhaps continue to hear many more. And such remarks are made by men who are supposed to be endowed with ordinary intelligence.

This thought occurs to me with more and more force as the days pass, and that is that we are in a war not of our own choosing, and being in it we will either have to fight German autocracy and Prussian vandalism in France and crush them over there, or later fight them over here and crush them or get crushed. And while fighting is good and there is plenty of it too suit the most fastidious warrior extent, it is better to put an ever lasting quietus on Kaiserism while we have the assistance of the allies than to wait and have to do it unassisted. That we shall conquer goes without saying, for the old flag has never yet touched the ground since it became the symbol of American manhood and American womanhood, the glory of our nation, who are now fully realizing the great task before us in this the greatest crisis that has ever confronted our republic.

Russia has gone to pieces, Italy is shaken to its very foundation as the central powers are pouring their hordes of vandals by millions across the border, spreading death, ruin and desolation, while the civilized world stands appalled at the onward rush of the wave of the gory tempest of devastation, which is sweeping toward our shores, threatening to engulf the world in the vortex of eternal ruin. If England and France should fail at the western front, what would be the fate of America? We alone would have to contend with the mightiest military power that ever existed since the world began, and unless we should win this government of the people, for the people and by the people will surely perish from the earth. And if we fail in this irreressible conflict we are unworthy of the traditions of those who framed and handed down to us a government run on the broad principles of, by and with the consent of the governed. Prussianism means government by, and with the consent of the Kaiser, and a few of his syphilitic cohorts. Now is a good time to choose between these two propositions. And now is a good time for the thin skinned patriots to cease their gab about fighting after the country has been invaded. We are in this war to win in spite of Prussianism and Prussian sympathizers who are supposed to be Americans, born across the sea, who come to this country to get away from the demon of Prussian militarism and who, by their actions, seem to be in sympath the system that drove them from their fatherland back in '48.

God helping us, we cannot turn back. The eyes of the world are turned to the shores of free America, and much is expected of us, and much will be given, even to the last dollar in the national treasury, and the last drop of the good, red, rich American blood that courses thru the veins of the flower of the American youths who compose the grand army now in embryo, and the millions yet to follow, if necessary, rather than that for which Lincoln perished and 400,000 loyal sons of the republic marched to glory and the grave during the early sixties, shall have all been in vain.

There are only two sides to the world war proposton as it affects this republic. We are either for our country, or we are on the side of its enemies. The line is as plain as a pike staff. Get on one side or the other, and let the people know where you stand.

There is an old flag in Memorial hall at the state capitol building that I carried "over the top" at Mission Ridge fifty three years ago the 24th of this month and my one great regret is now that 77 years exempt me from taking part in the stirring events of this year 1917 so that I might be able to "do my bit" in helping to blot from the face of the world, the menace of Prussian autocracy and the diabolical evils that follow in its train, the chief one of which is the Kaiser who wants to rule the world by divine right, or ruin it with the iron heel of military despotism.

Thirty-eight millions of armed men are now marching and countermarching and drenching the hills and valleys of the old world in human blood. The number will soon be forty millions, and among the mighty hosts will appear the American boys in khaki marching under the shining folds of Old Glory, and they will bring it back, or answer to God the reason why, with added lustre to its glorious tri-colors, and to them will be given a record without stain and a glory that will not fade in the remorseless years yet to be. And while they are fighting our battles, and the battle for universal freedom and universal democracy, we here at home should stand by them and for them to the last man, and woman, and child, in all this broad land, from Maine to the Golden Gate, and from the lakes of the north to the waves that lave the coast of Florida. Those of us who are not able to "go over the top" must give, give and keep giving of our means in one way or another to help win the war. For if they fail in this mighty crusade for humanity all, all is lost, and this land of the free will be under the despotic mandate of the man on horse back with a mailed fist and a spiked helmet. But they will not fail! Truth, justice and righteousness are on the side of the allies in this supreme conflict of the ages, and right will eventually win for the gates of hell and Prussian autocracy will not, and shall not prevail against the right of a free people to govern themselves.

"In the beauty of the lilies Christ
was born across the sea,
With a glory in His bosom that
transfigures you and me,
As He died to make men holy let us die to make men free."

And the boys who are now training for the great conflict will in the near future, march to victory as they sing the Battle Hymn of the Republic, just as the hosts in blue sang the immortal song more than fifty years ago, and hung high in the heavens the torch of universal liberty. In hoc signo vinces.

Yours for victory,
J. M. Swales.

Lemons Beautify! Make Quarter Pint of Lotion, Cheap

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.—Adv.

EXEMPTION BOARD BEGINS WORK ON REPORT

Volunteer Workers Respond to Appeal of Board for Aid—Work Will be Completed Saturday—Chairman Weir Confined to Home by Illness.

There has been a good response to the call issued by the local board of exemption for volunteers to aid in the work of summarizing the activities of the board. The work is to be done so that a condensed statement of the work of operating the selective draft law may be presented to congress at its next convocation the coming month.

More workers could be used by the board, however, and it is the hope of the officials that many will present themselves for cooperation with the board today. Action must be immediate as the report must be mailed from Jacksonville next Saturday or sooner if possible. The local board has been given six days in which to complete the work.

A telegram received yesterday from Adjutant General Dickson shows how imperative is the need for haste in this matter. The wire was sent to the local office as a result of word sent out by the Provost Marshal General. The telegram follows:

Western Union Message
Government Message
Springfield, Ill.

Miller Weir, Exemption Board,
Ayers Bank Bldg., Jacksonville.

The following telegram from the Provost Marshal General is repeated with the request that you make every effort possible to furnish the desired information concerning reports to be made direct by local boards.

"There is urgent need that boards address themselves to this task in order that we may obtain the information before congress convenes. Will you please take up this matter in your state and urge on all your boards to get this data into this office even earlier than the date scheduled if possible. No greater service of cooperation could be rendered just now than this and I know that I can rely upon you to push this matter vigorously." Crowder.

Please advise this office when you have furnished this information to the Provost Marshal General.

The regular office force of the exemption board made a start on the summarization work yesterday afternoon and last night a number of volunteer workers were aiding in the work. Help is needed during the afternoons and from six to ten o'clock in the evenings.

Chairman Miller Weir of the board was kept at home yesterday on account of illness.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM AMERICAN FLYER

Young Man With French Aviation Corps Writes to Friend in Jacksonville.

A letter received in Jacksonville yesterday from a young American learning to fly with the French contains a great deal of information relative to the manner in which beginners are taught the use of airplanes and the kinds of machines the French are using. This young man enlisted last May as an ambulance driver, but soon transferred to the aviation branch of the service after reaching French soil. Parts of his letter follow:

Your last letter came a few days ago with the cartoons which you enclosed. I think the aviators in those cartoons manage to get more thrills out of their flying than we do altho if you fly at all you are bound to get a thrill now and then. Sometime the thrill comes in the air and sometimes it is furnished by the lurid language of the monitor when your landing has been poor.

Our camp here is a great big one and we have a great many machines of all the different kinds from the litle Bleriot monoplanes to the big Caproni biplanes. The Bleriot monoplanes are not used at the front any more and haven't been for some time but they make an excellent school machine.

The system employed in the "Bleriot school" is the "single command," that is all your flying is done without a monitor. At the start you get into a Penguin, which is a machine with a weak motor and clipped wings and which will not leave the ground. Oddly enough this is one of the hardest classes in the school. It would seem as tho it ought to be a simple matter to guide a machine in a straight line along the ground but believe me for a beginner it is not. After the wild Penguins have been thoroly mastered, comes the "roller class" which is practically the same thing except that the machines are regular Bleriots and will fly altho it is forbidden to let them get off the ground. The next class is called the "decole class" and is one of the hardest and most exciting in the school for it is in this class that you first leave the ground. Nearly anyone is apt to be a little flustered the first time they leave the ground and as the Bleriot is one of the most sensitive machines there are some pretty wild rides. To "decole" properly you should fly about one yard from the ground and not get any higher but very few manage to do that the first time. A great many machines are broken in this class. I have seen as many as seven machines broken up in one morning. The object of this class is to teach the fundamentals of landing and after this class comes the pique class where you learn to make landings from a greater height by pointing the nose of the machine down and volplaning or piquing to the ground. After this comes high pique which is a continuation of the class before and then the "tour de pute" class in which you really fly. There are three of these classes using 45 horse power machines, 50 horse power machines, and 60 horse power machines. I am in the 60 horse power class now and hope soon to pass to "Caudron" which is a biplane and the type of machine we use for "brevet" work. After getting our "brevet" we must spend about two weeks "perfectioning" on one of the types of machines used in the war and then we are ready.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Young of Rushville were visitors in the city yesterday.

Try This! Hair Gets Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful At Once

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that is the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Konwlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents.—Adv.

EXCERPTS FROM JOURNAL FILES

THIRTY FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Ducks were reported to be more plentiful than ever at Meredosia.
The progressive policy of the Jacksonville Southeastern Railway company was discussed in detail and three columns in the paper was devoted to this subject.
TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
Godfrey Tendick had begun the erection of his new residence on West College Avenue, near the Congregational church.
The fire department was called to the home of C. A. Osborne of South East Street. The roof caught fire from the flue and a large hole was burned in one side. The department was also called to the residence of Ed Sharpe on East State Street and Brown Street. A defective flue caused the blaze which was soon extinguished.

Herbert Hickox of this city and Miss Mamie Batty of Berdan were married by Rev. A. L. T. Ewert at the Centenary church parsonage.
Perry White and E. E. Hatfield made a trip to Nortonville. They passed a corn field where some men were at work and Mr. White could not resist the temptation to try his hand. The result was startling to the best "shuckers" in that vicinity as he turned out thirty bushels in three hours. Mr. Hatfield improved the time by writing ten insurance policies.
Marcy W. Osborne won the golf championship cup from F. L. Ledferd on the links of the Country Club.
The second ward pupils presented a dramatization of Hiawatha. The girls and boys appeared in Indian costume and their work was exceptionally clever. The teachers in charge were Mrs. Devitt, Misses Alkire and Deleuw. The ushers were Misses Frances Hatch, Lucille Tremblett and Jeanette Leck and Messrs. DeMotte Gates and Lester Breckom. The presentation was divided into two scenes as follows:

A large crowd enjoyed "A Modern Eve" at the Grand.
William Nines had a force of men at work taking up pipe laid to the city from the oil fields and also piping on the Kennedy farm in the Arcadia neighborhood. The pipe was being shipped to Sumner, Ill.
Mrs. J. B. Williams of Westminster street gave a party for children on the cradle roll of the Congregational Sunday school and their mothers.
Mrs. J. F. Berry entertained the members of the Ladies Aid society of the Literberry M. E. church at a five o'clock dinner at her home on Pine St.

WARN AGAINST BULGARIA'S ALLEGED EFFORT

London.—Diplomatic representatives of some of the Balkan states in London and Paris have lately issued warnings against an effort which they allege Bulgaria is making, to get out of the war while she is still in possession of a considerable quantity of other people's property.
The Bulgarian reply to the Papal peace note indicates in a veiled way the Bulgarian aims, declaring enigmatically that the Bulgarian government will support all proposals for peace "which do not run counter to the vital interests of the Bulgarian nation and its unity."

F. W. Finn and J. Bailey of Virginia were Jacksonville visitors Sunday.

ACTIVITY IN OATS HOLDS CORN STRONG

Scarcity of Cars Furnishes Chief Market Influence.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Oats in activity and strength today held corn strong, scarcity of cars furnished the chief influence.
Corn gained 1@1½ to 2¼c closing unsettled.
rProvisions advanced 2½ to 50c.
It was explained that producers of oats had become extra cautious about sales for nearby deliveries on reports that railroad equipment was being utilized to the utmost to dispose of soft corn. Corn rose mainly on the upturns in oats and Wall street quotations and bull sentiments was aided by belief that the yield of merchantable corn would not be much in xcess of last year.
Provisions swung upward with grain.

The Evening Line-Up

Both children and grown-ups, with coughs and colds, are all the better for a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar at bed time. It wards off croup, stops tickling throat, and hacking coughs, and makes an otherwise feverish, sleepless night of coughing and distress, a quiet and restful one.

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, Mr. Chas. Baker, writes: "My wife would not think of using any other cough medicine, as Foley's Honey and Tar is certain to bring quick relief. It is especially effective in cases of bad coughs, and we give it to our children and recommend it always as a safe remedy, for it contains no opiates."

City Drug Store,
C. A. Obermeyer

Make Your Own Cough Syrup and Save Money

Better than the ready-made kind. Easily prepared at home.

The finest cough syrup that money can buy, costing only about one-fifth as much as ready-made preparations, can easily be made up at home. The way it takes hold and conquers distressing coughs, throat and chest colds will really make you enthusiastic about it.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (60 cents worth). Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Shake thoroughly and it is ready for use. The total cost is about 65 cents and gives you a full pint—a family supply—of a most effectual, pleasant tasting remedy. It keeps perfectly.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed or swollen throat membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough will disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is known the world over for its prompt healing effect on the throat membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

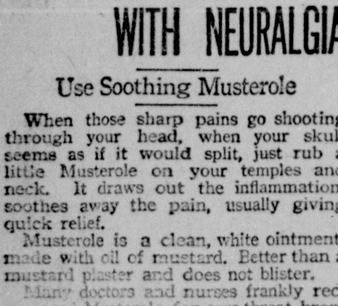

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

"I'll Show You How Corns Peel Off!"

"Gets-It" Puts Your Feet in Clover—It Ends Corns Quickly.

and tape, trying to fix a corn so it wouldn't hurt. But now no one in the world "should worry," because the moment you put "Gets-It" on, it means the end of a corn. There is nothing in the world like "Gets-It"—nothing as sure and certain—nothing that you can count on to take off a corn or callus every time, and without danger. The corn never grew that "Gets-It" will not get. It never irritates the flesh, never makes your toe sore. Just two drops of "Gets-It" and presto! the corn-pain vanishes. Shortly you can peel the corn right off with your finger and there you are—corn-free and happy with the toe as smooth and corn-free as your palm. Never happened before, did it? Guess not.

Get a bottle of "Gets-It" today from any drug store you need pay no more than 25c, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

WOMEN OF NAPLES REGISTERED FRIDAY

Work was in Charge of Miss Helen Abbott and Mrs. George E. Hass, Registrars—Red Cross Luncheon a Success—Other Naples News Items

Naples, Nov. 12.—Funeral services in charge of Rev. Geo. E. Haas of Naples, for Mrs. Rebecca Mayes, were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the old family home, two and a half miles northeast of here, and where the death occurred Sunday night at 11 o'clock, after a few days' illness. Mrs. Mayes was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson and was born Dec. 28, 1844, at Ridlington, near Uppingham, Rutland county, England.

She was married to Bradshaw Mayes, from the same place in England, Sept. 12, 1861, at Jacksonville, Ill. To the union were born twelve children, three dying in infancy.

Early in their married life the couple accepted Christ into their lives and joined the church. At the time of their deaths they were members of the M. E. church, Naples. Grandma Mayes loved the association of the church, believed heartily in its tenets, supported it loyally, and felt its comforting influence in her life. She has spoken so many times in its recommendation. Through its portals, while in her care, she guided her boys and girls; since then theirs the responsibility.

With 72 years, 10 months and 6 days to her credit, her life work ended, she has gone to join her companion of yore. She did her part well and passed into the nightless land victorious. We feel that for her is the open portal over which reads the true story, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy reward." "How beautiful it is for a man to die on the walls of Zion! to be called like a watch-worn and weary sentinel, to put his armor off, and rest in heaven."

The attendance at the services was the largest of any similar occasion for a long time. A long line of automobiles carried the people to the Naples cemetery where the burial took place. Miss Norma Abrams, Mesdames Frank Hale, Archie Savoie, George E. Hass and Mrs. Will Hamilton at the organ, rendered the musical numbers in a beautiful manner. The floral offerings were choice and large.

ARRIVED SAFELY IN FRANCE

D. E. Sweeney of 922 South East street received a cablegram Monday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock announcing the safe arrival of his son John in France. Mr. Sweeney enlisted with a hospital unit in Detroit, Mich., last spring and recently sailed for France. The cablegram was sent from Sansongine and was very brief, simply the words, "Arrived safely." It is needless to say that the news was most welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney.

low the declaration of peace and the work of demobilization.

"We urge the immediate necessity of providing for some adequate form of employment agencies in this country, under federal control, and coordinating all local efforts along this line.

"We further recommend that some action be taken by this convention insisting upon our government to make such plans for demobilization so that men will remain in the employment of the government until they can be provided with remunerative employment through government employment agencies, unless they have not employment opportunities already open to them."

Since the war began, the report says, the American labor movement has secured the "best agreemnets with the government that have been secured in any other warring countries."

"The agreements established a new period in the industrial world," says the report, "a period in which the government has sanctioned standards based upon principles of human welfare and has substituted these standards for the old system under which profits were paramount."

Foremost among these agreements are cited the understanding entered into between the secretary of war and Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, which provided that local standards should govern wages, hours and conditions in the building of cantonments. The report points out that the gigantic construction task was carried through without interruption. This understanding subsequently was approved by the secretary of the navy for all work on land undertaken by his department.

Other agreements mentioned included a memorandum for the adjustment by a joint board of wages, hours and conditions in shipbuilding plants; an agreement to govern conditions of labor in loading and unloading vessels; and the creation of a commission to settle disputes in the harness and saddlery industry.

Discuss Industrial Reserve

Considerable space is devoted to the attitude of the council toward problems raised by the war which have been engrossing public attention. Chief among these is the much-discussed suggestion for the conscription of labor, concerning which the report says:

"Immediately after the declaration of war by the United States Government, an agitation was commenced for the purpose of organizing what was to be known as an 'Industrial Reserve.' It was proposed that men in industry should become part of a semi-military organization to be directed and controlled by our military establishment, to the end that those employed in industry could be shifted from one location to another. Because of its military feature, the proposition was opposed by the officers of the American Federation of Labor. In the light of the experience gleaned in foreign countries now engaged in war, it appears that the shifting of workers has not only been necessary but vital to the carrying on of the great conflict. Several plans have been proposed, but none thus far has been accepted as a proper solution of the problem. If the war continues for any considerable period, this question will have to be met. The primary agency necessary for dealing with proper adjustment of workers is a national employment bureau equipped to give workers information of employment opportunities and employers information of available and suitable workers. It is one of the necessary and essential activities of the war that certain industries on occasions are called upon to materially increase production, and, in this event, some plan must be inaugurated to meet the needs of the government."

The report recognizes the possibility that war conditions may bring about a "more general advent" of women in industry. Demand is made that equal pay be given for equal work without regard to sex, which the report says can be obtained only thru organization of the new wage-earners.

A Fundamental of Democracy.

Freedom of expression is declared by the report to be one of the fundamentals of democracy, but it is pointed out that war conditions present very different problems than those of peace.

"We know that this very freedom of expression, which is one of the great opportunities of a free people, constitutes an equally potential opportunity for the enemies of our country," the report says. "Those who abuse the freedom of the press in order to endanger the perpetuity of our republic and to undermine our free institutions should be punished as traitors to the nation. * * * * Freedom must not be confused with license."

Urgent recommendation is made by the council that the eight-hour day be extended by administrative authority to all commerce and industry as a war measure. The report details the fight for an eight hour day in government work and records that the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy have inserted in contracts made by their departments a provision for employment of workers on a basis of eight hours labor. At the beginning of war congress recognized the eight hour principle in writing into the naval appropriation law a clause that in case of national emergency the President might suspend the eight hour law, provided that overtime should be paid for on the basis of time and a half. In urging the extension of the eight hour day to all industry, the report says:

"The failure of all concerns to adopt the eight hour basis is the cause of more industrial discontent and unrest than any other one condition."

Important Legislation.

The report records that 21 states, aggregating one-third of the voting population of the United States, have adopted the initiative and referendum and lists the following legislation, important to labor as having been enacted by Congress:

"Immigration law, containing the literacy test, new organic law for Porto Rico, strengthening amendments to federal eight hour law, provisions in appropriation bills increasing wages and salaries of federal employes, re-enactment of the original proviso in the sundry civil appropriation bill prohibiting use of funds provided in the bill for prosecuting the members of labor and farmers' organizations in their efforts to increase wages, reduce hours or improve working conditions as violations of the Sherman-anti-trust act, re-enactment of the Tavenner amendment forbidding officials to use the stopwatch or other such time measuring devices in government plants, Vocational Trade Training Law, Food Control Law, Food Survey law, amendments to the judicial code enabling longshoremen and other maritime workers to obtain compensation for injuries under the state laws, appropriation for Department of Labor's public employment service bureau, the soldiers and sailors' war risk insurance bill, and the war risk insurance law for seamen employed in the merchant marine."

Two delegates to the Pan-American Federation of Labor Conference Committee have become resident in Washington since the first Pan-American labor conference was held last January. They represent Cuba and Mexico. Communications favoring the holding of a Pan-American congress have been received from labor organizations in Cuba, Peru, Argentina, Mexico, St. Kitts Island, British West Indies and Porto Rico.

No Constructive Development.

There has been practically no constructive development in international relations since the last convention, the report says. Pacifist movements to distract the nation's attention from the business of war are answered by the council in the republication of the declaration adopted by the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, which met at Minneapolis.

Intimidation and deportation of striking wage earners in the west is denounced.

The report of P. M. Draper, secretary-treasurer of the British Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which was included in the council's report, announced that the United Textile Workers of America had been successful in organizing the workers of Ontario, that the workers of Nova Scotia have shown a tendency to break away from provincial labor organizations and develop a sturdy internationalism, and that the labor movement is gaining strength in western Canada.

Financial conditions of the Federation were discussed in the report of Frank Morrison, treasurer, which showed total receipts for the year of $412,047.76 and a balance on hand of $141,467.84. The Federation is composed of 845 union, with an average membership of 58,416 and a defense fund of $133,634.64. The Federation is eleventh in point of membership among 111 national and international unions.

During the year the Federation received donations from members amounting to $212,685.68 for relief of the Danbury hatters, against whom a judgment was obtained by a manufacturer who sued under the Sherman law.

MAZOLA

BUTTER, lard and suet have been used for years for deep frying, sautéing or shortening—because the housewife could find nothing better. Today the Food Administrator asks her to use vegetable oils.

And Mazola, the pure oil from corn holds first place among vegetable oils. It is the ideal medium for sautéing, deep frying, shortening and salad dressings from every standpoint.

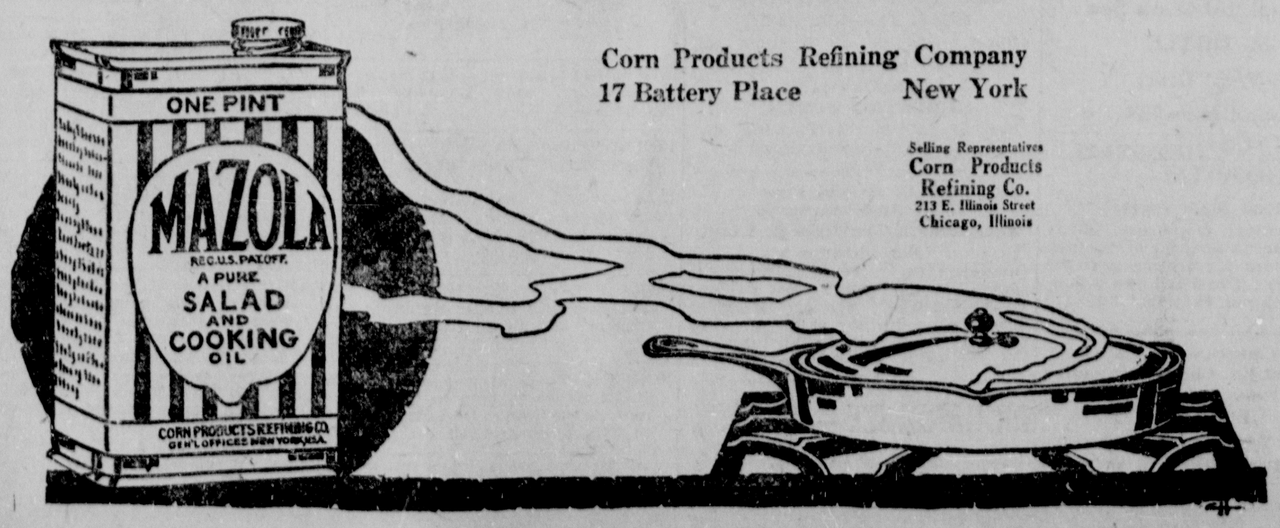

Mazola reaches cooking heat long before it smokes—cooks food more quickly and at the same time more thoroughly. This does away with that sogginess and greasiness so prevalent with the old cooking mediums.

And Mazola can be used over and over again because it does not transmit taste or odor from one food to another!

That is what makes it so wonderfully economical.

Get a can of Mazola from your grocer today. Sold in pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon tins—the large sizes give greatest economy. Also ask for the free Mazola Book of Recipes or write us direct.

Forty members were present and the meeting proved one of unusual interest. Reports on the Sunday school convention at Palmyra were made by Mrs. E. L. Pletcher, Mrs. R. A. Gates and Mrs. J. O. Kirkpatrick. Mrs. Claude Vail read a paper "Under the Crescent" which she gave at the Palmyra meeting. Miss Clara Ranson and Mrs. Thomas Harber sang a duet and Mrs. Harber sang a group of songs. After the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Cully returned to their home on South East street and during the evening their children surprised them by calling and spending the evening. The visitors brought refreshments which were served and the occasion proved one of much pleasure. Mr. and Mrs. Cully are among Jacksonville's oldest and most highly respected citizens and have many friends who will join in wishing them many more years of happiness together. They were the recipients of a number of gold pieces and other useful presents.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cully, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cully, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rigdon, Miss Josephine Cully and Mrs. Thomas of Lewiston. One daughter, Ollie, of Aurora, was unable to be present.

HAS GONE TO LOUISVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Bunce received word Monday from their daughter, Mrs. F. O. Branstitter, who left Saturday for Louisville, Ky., that her train was very late in arriving at St. Louis on account of an accident. The Alton passenger train struck an automobile containing two men and one of them was killed. The car was set on fire and burned up. The train was two hours and a half late in reaching its terminus point and on this account Mrs. Branstitter failed to make proper connections with the L. & N. for Louisville, being forced to wait over until the next day to get her train. Her husband is among the soldiers now stationed at Camp Taylor and it is probable that Mrs. Branstitter will remain in Louisville until after the holidays.

PIERSON HOWELL DIED SUDDENLY YESTERDAY

Was Found Unconscious in a Shed in the Rear of His Residence—Death Occurred Before Arrival of Physician—Coroner Rose Held Inquest.

Pierson Howell, one of the city's best known citizens, died suddenly at his home 428 South Mauvaisterre street early Monday morning. Mr. Howell had been complaining for several days. Monday morning he went to a shed in the rear of the residence. When he did not return his stepdaughter went to look for him and found him in an unconscious condition. Before a physician could be summoned he was dead.

Circumstances surrounding his death were such that Coroner Rose was notified and empanelled a jury and held an inquest. The jury was composed of D. T. Heimlich, foreman; J. F. Farra, F. J. Blackburn, Isaac G. Lazenby, B. C. Lair and Keith Montgomery, clerk.

The testimony of Dr. P. C. Thompson, who was Mr. Howell's physician, and Harold J. Johnson was heard. Dr. Thompson testified as to the deceased calling on him last week and complaining of a pain in the left side. Witness said he made an examination which revealed arterio sclerosis. Dr. Thompson gave as his opinion that death was caused by angina pectoris.

The testimony of Mr. Johnson did not throw any light on the matter. He told of being summoned by telephone from his residence, 1239 South East street to the residence of Mrs. Brown where he found Mr. Howell in an unconscious condition. He summoned Dr. Thompson who pronounced Mr. Howell dead upon his arrival. After hearing the testimony the jury returned a verdict that death resulted from angina pectoris.

Pierson Howell was the son of Abner and Anna Chandler Howell and was born in Newark, N. J., March 4, 1846. He came to Illinois early in life and for many years has been a resident of Jacksonville. He was united in marriage in Springfield in 1868 to Mrs. Mary Thompson who survives him together with one stepdaughter, Mrs. Edward Brown of 428 South Mauvaisterre street. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Anna Cramer of Morristown, N. J., and two granddaughters, Mrs. A. R. Porter of Toronto, Can., and Miss Ruth Brown of this city.

Mr. Howell was a tinner by trade and was one of the best known men in that trade in the city. He was for many years in the employ of the late Irving Clement and in recent years has been employed by the George S. Gay Hardware company. He was a member of the Odd Fellows. Mr. Howell served in the 133rd Ill. Infantry in the Civil war and was a member of Matt Starr Post, G. A. R.

Funeral services will be held from 428 South Mauvaisterre street Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with burial in Diamond Grove cemetery.

GREAT MEETING AT WINCHESTER TONIGHT

COURT HOUSE TO BE SCENE OF GATHERING HELD IN INTEREST OF ARMY MEN.

Camp Taylor Soldier Home on Brief Furlough Will Address Scott County Meeting Tonight—Other News of Winchester and Vicinity.

Private Verlin Summers, a member of Ambulance Company No. 334, Sanitary Train 309, arrived in Winchester Sunday noon from Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky. He surprised his wife, relatives and friends here by his visit as they were not expecting him. He likes camp life very much and states that the boys are well taken care of, with plenty of good food and equipment. Like all other soldiers, however, he is a booster for the army Y. M. C. A. and in fact spoke such praise for the work of this institution that his leave of absence was extended forty-eight hours, and he will take part in the Scott county campaign for the Y. M. C. A. Scott county is asked to raise the sum of $4,200 for this most worthy cause and while it may take some strenuous action to raise the required amount in the time allotted yet the workers have every confidence to believe that the money will be raised by the 18th of this month. Mr. Summers spoke at Bloomfield last night and tonight will take part in the big meeting to be held in this city at the court house. As was announced last week the meeting tonight will be held primarily to receive donations for Scott county's representatives in the armed forces of the nation, but it is likely that Mr. Summers' soldierly presence will inject some army Y. M. C. A. spirit into the meeting and make it one of dual purpose. A rousing, enthusiastic meeting with a large number in attendance is looked for at the court house tonight.

Among the meetings to be held in the interest of the army Y. M. C. A. campaign are the following meeting places, dates, and speakers:

Bloomfield meeting was held last night with Verlin Summers, C. W. Casely and F. C. Funk as speakers.

Winchester—Tuesday night, Verlin Summers, J. J. Reeve and C. W. Casely.

Glasgow—Wednesday night, P. A. Sorenson and F. C. Funk.

Oxville—Wednesday night, J. A. McKeene and G. E. Prewitt.

Merritt—Wednesday night, C. W. Casely and Fritz Haskell.

Manchester—Thursday night, G. E. Prewitt and J. A. McKeene.

Exeter—Thursday night, W. R. Johnson, P. A. Sorenson, and F. C. Funk.

Naples—Thursday night, T. J. Reinhart and P. A. Sorenson.

Bluffs—Friday night, C. W. Casely, J. J. Reeve, and F. C. Funk.

Alsey—Friday night, S. V. Peters and W. R. Johnson.
